

Logan R. Nantais

Associate

801 South Figueroa Street
Suite 2100
Los Angeles, CA 90017
logan.nantais@ropers.com
d (213) 312-2099
m (213) 658-8983

Logan has experience in litigation involving tribal law, labor and employment, insurance, and commercial disputes. He approaches each matter with careful analysis and strategic focus, drawing on a diverse background that spans complex legal and policy issues.

During law school, Logan interned at Freedom Now, an organization dedicated to securing the release of individuals arbitrarily detained around the world, and at the Penn Cultural Heritage Center, where he supported efforts to obtain federal recognition for the Gabrielino/Tongva Nation. As a member of the UC Irvine Law International Justice Clinic, Logan spoke before the United Nations Human Rights Committee to advocate for freedom of expression within Indonesian civil society. He also served on the editorial board of the UC Irvine Journal of International, Transnational, and Comparative Law and competed as an oralist on the Philip C. Jessup International Moot Court team.

PRACTICE AREAS

Business & Commercial Litigation
Employment
Insurance Services
Native American Law

COURT ADMISSIONS

California

EDUCATION

JD, University of California, Irvine School of Law, 2025
BA, University of Pennsylvania, magna cum laude, 2021

Representative Matters

- Defending a manufacturer and distributor in ongoing mass toxic tort litigation involving silicosis claims allegedly arising from exposure to silica dust in artificial stone products. This multi-party litigation includes hundreds of coordinated cases nationwide and has required extensive motion practice, including cross-complaints and procedural motions, with trials set over the next several years.
- Representing a tribal-owned construction company in an ongoing construction dispute in tribal court.
- Representing an entertainment production company in a harassment action scheduled to proceed to arbitration in April 2027.

Insights

Three Takeaways from a PFAS Litigation and Regulatory Developments Conference

April 02, 2026

Recently, I attended the 2026 Perrin Conferences PFAS Litigation and Regulatory Developments Conference, where industry leaders and...

New Year, New Compliance Duties: SB 513 Expands Personnel Record Requests

December 30, 2025

Beginning January 1, 2026, California employers will face new obligations when responding to employee requests for personnel records....